

PIONEERING THE SPIRITS INDUSTRY FOR OVER 30 YEARS

2024 marked a landmark year for leading global spirits maker, Pernod Ricard in India. As it completed its 30th year, India's largest alco-bev company recommitted itself to the market, announcing an investment of up to 200 million Euros towards setting up its largest malt distillery and maturation facility in Asia at Nagpur, Maharashtra. It also overtook China to emerge as the Group's second largest market. In just three decades, Pernod Ricard India (PRI) has not only reshaped the future of the alco-bev industry but has also emerged as the nation's largest spirits maker, reaffirming its position as India's preferred shaper of finest experiences.

With 24 manufacturing units and a presence in over 85,000 outlets across 27 states, PRI leads the market, with its iconic Seagram's brands dominating the Deluxe and Premium categories. Exporting to 50+ countries and driving several industry-first initiatives, the company continues to exemplify innovation, excellence, and global impact.

Boasting an Impressive Portfolio

Pernod Ricard India has consistently excelled in decoding, anticipating, and shaping consumer trends. Its portfolio masterfully blends global expertise with local insights, offering a unique proposition that resonates deeply with the evolving aspirations of Indian consumers. PRI has become an integral part of India's culture and celebrations, driving the premiumization of the market. Embodying a truly 'Glocal' spirit, the company bridges global excellence with local craftsmanship, curating a diverse and premium portfolio.

PRI's whisky range is particularly noteworthy, featuring iconic brands like Royal Stag, Blenders Pride, and Imperial Blue, alongside international favorites such as Chivas Regal, The Glenlivet, and Jameson. Its white spirits portfolio is equally remarkable, with ABSOLUT vodka, Martell cognac, Beefeater gin, and celebrated champagnes like Mumm and Perrier-Jouët.

The launch of Longitude 77, PRI's first homegrown single malt, marked a celebration of India's diverse terroir and modern luxury. Building on this milestone, the company introduced Royal Stag Double Dark Peaty Whisky and Blenders Pride Four Elements Premium Whisky this year, further cementing its position as a pioneer in the industry.

Global Yet Committed to 'Make in India'

India remains a top priority for Pernod Ricard's operations. As one of the Group's fastest-growing businesses globally, the commitment to 'Make in India' is evident in its portfolio, with over 97% sales coming from domestically produced brands. With six overseas manufacturing locations in Myanmar, Indonesia, Vietnam, China, Nigeria, and Cameroon, and a global presence in over 50 countries, Seagram's whiskies are exported to 40 countries worldwide. This alignment supports the government's vision of building a self-reliant India, with significant investments in manufacturing.

Today, India stands as the Group's second-largest market, as well as the number two market for Jameson and Glenlivet. These achievements not only underscore PRI's growth but also highlight the robust demand for premium whisky in the region.

The Nashik facility in Maharashtra continues to lead industry standards with its advanced integrated risk management and zero-pollution processes. Notably, the two units in Nashik and Rocky have reached a major milestone by becoming the first winery and alcobev units to receive the prestigious FSSC 22000 certification.

Unveiling its Largest Malt Distillery in Asia

Pernod Ricard India is reinforcing its commitment to the 'Make in India' initiative through strategic investments and innovative manufacturing. Recently, the company broke ground on its ambitious project — a malt distillery in Nagpur, Maharashtra. This facility is set to become Asia's largest malt spirit and maturation plant, with an annual production capacity of 13 million liters. With an investment of up to INR 1785 crore over the next decade, this project will significantly contribute to Maharashtra's development and sustainable future.
