Dr. Grace Pinto
Redefining Education with Vision, Faith, and Humanity

The Managing Director of Ryan Group of Institutions, is a trailblazer in education, transforming lives through her visionary leadership, unwavering faith, and commitment to holistic learning. She emerges as a steadfast leader whose mission transcends the conventional boundaries of schooling shaping lives, nurturing communities, and envisioning a better tomorrow for all.

In a world of evolving aspirations and mounting challenges, Dr. Grace Pinto, the Managing Director of Ryan Group of Institutions, stands as a luminous beacon of dedication and purpose in education. Her journey, woven with resilience, faith, and innovation, illustrates how one person's dream can empower generations.

Her story begins humbly, with a teacher's fervent passion to make a difference. Partnering with her husband, Dr. A. F. Pinto, Grace transformed her energy as an educator into a mission. Their first school was not just a building, but the embodiment of their vision to make quality education accessible to all. This initial spark ignited a movement that today spans 18 states, 40 cities in India, and even the UAE, under the banner of the Ryan Group of Schools.

Grace's approach to education goes beyond classrooms and textbooks. She and her husband traveled extensively, engaging with diverse communities to craft a framework that resonated with local needs while embracing global aspirations. This immersive groundwork earned the trust of parents, teachers, and communities alike, laying a foundation for a truly transformative education ecosystem.

Reflecting on her success, Grace humbly attributes it to divine intervention. "It is by the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ that we have achieved so much," she shares. Yet, her accomplishments are equally rooted in her values: discipline, determination, courage, and an unwavering hunger to learn.

For Grace, education is more than a profession; it's a profound responsibility. She emphasizes, "To be an effective leader, we must rethink curriculum, methodology, and assessment. Teachers must learn, unlearn, and relearn to stay relevant for our young digital natives."

Under her leadership, Ryan International has embraced cutting-edge practices, ensuring technology integration and teacher training remain priorities. Partnerships with global entities like Penn Hub and the College Board have created new avenues for students, while cultural exchange programs with institutions in the US, Italy, Germany, and beyond foster global perspectives.

Grace's belief in holistic education extends to nurturing values like integrity, compassion, and responsibility alongside academic excellence. Events at both national and international levels help students explore their potential and build life skills that prepare them for an ever-changing world.

Grace's ability to innovate while remaining rooted in her faith and values sets her apart. Her leadership has powered Ryan International's growth, making it a pioneer in integrating academics with co-curricular activities and industry partnerships. "Education must evolve with the times," she asserts, "but its essence remains in shaping individuals who contribute meaningfully to society."

Dr. Grace Pinto's contributions have been widely recognized. Recent accolades include the ET inspiring women leader award 2024 at the prestigious 'Economic Times Women Conclave 2024' the Lifetime Achievement Award 2022 from Mauritius President H.E.
