Breakaway

For immersive craft and textile trails across India

Founded by creative entrepreneur Shilpa Sharma in 2011, Breakaway is a bespoke travel enterprise that prides itself on offering immersive craft and textile trails, among other journeys. From visits to master craftsmen to viewings of some of India's best private collections, every craft and textile trail is studded with experiences that leverage her professional connections and open doors most can't even knock on. For instance, when in Gujarat, the trail begins in Ahmedabad with a curated walk through the Calico Museum of Textiles, followed by visits to noted textile organisations in Kachchh like Kala Raksha, Khamir and Shrujan. There's also a stop at Patan to meet weavers keeping the tradition of Patan Patola alive. This is only a fraction of what Breakaway does. They organise craft and textile trails across one or two cities to long explorations spanning entire states in almost every geography of the country—Punjab, Gujarat, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Kashmir and Ladakh being their most popular.

Tons Trails

For nature trails in Uttarakhand's remote Tons Valley

While many of Uttarakhand's tourist hotspots like Mussoorie and Nainital receive attention, remote areas like the Tons Valley go unnoticed. Social enterprise Tons Trails, founded by Anand Sankar in 2013, empowers as many as 37 villages in the region through sustainable tourism. At present, they offer four trails—from moderate to intense—that bring travellers up, close and personal with the life of Himalayan nomads. One can sign up for The Nomad Trail or High-Altitude Nomad Retreat to follow nomads into grasslands and camp with them. For those who enjoy history and culture, the Tons Heritage Trail takes guests to the charming Supin and Rupin Valleys to meet with the local communities. And if adventure is up your alley, go for the Kalap Experience to visit the Tons Valley's most stunning village with no road connectivity, and get rewarded with gorgeous views! www.tons.travel
