Aikkya Farms

WHERE: Seetla, Kumaon, Uttarakhand

WHO: Hosts Shivani and Avijeet and their capable team have consistently wowed guests at their Airbnb in the hills with their F&B offerings

WHY: A Japanese philosophy homestay with friendly owners and dogs, where you're plied with deliciously made different cuisines daily (think Thai curry one day, Kumaoni chicken and bhang chutney the next), cocktails crafted from desi ingredients such as cumin and jamun, and jams and chutneys freshly made from plum and apricot sourced from their own orchards

HOW: Flight to Pantnagar and 103 km by road

C'est L'avi — Table in the Hills

WHERE: Velim, South Goa

WHO: Chef Avinash Martins, famous for his restaurant Cavatina in Benaulim, his own culinary show on Zee Zest titled Goa Food, Fable, Family with Avinash Martins and for wowing guests with his food at the recent Ambani reception, brings you laidback luxury by a babbling brook

WHY: Michelin-style food in a minimalistic, ecofriendly setting, the Table in the Hills is literally a wooden table that seats 12 in the midst of lush forest, where the chef presents the flavours of Goa reimagined in a storytelling menu. Not only do they use natural spring water, firewood from the local trees—mango, cashew, coconut and jackfruit—and barbecues over coconut husks and shells, but the ingredients too are in harmony with the surroundings. Think red amaranth, sun-dried kokum or smoked mackerel with poee

HOW: Flight to Dabolim airport and 41 km by road
