

▼ RAJESH VERMA, 31

| LJP (RV) | Khagaria, Bihar

Verma is a qualified engineer who began his political career as Bhagalpur city's deputy mayor in 2017. In July 2020, he joined the Lok Janshakti Party and contested the state election from Bhagalpur. Though he came in third, the split in votes led to the BJP candidate's narrow defeat. After the LJP split the following year, he stayed loyal to Chirag Paswan and was rewarded for it with a ticket from Khagaria—he won by 160,000-plus votes. Verma comes from a reputed business family in Bhagalpur, runs a real estate firm and has assets worth Rs 5.4 crore.

DAMODAR AGARWAL, 68 ▶

| BJP | Bhilwara, Rajasthan

A well-known textiles trader in Bhilwara, he emerged as a giant-killer, defeating former Union minister and assembly speaker C.P. Joshi. Agarwal has been long associated with the RSS in this industrial town that has emerged as India's largest manufacturer of fabrics, and was even imprisoned for three months during the Emergency. Recently made the state BJP's general secretary, the seasoned leader has declared assets worth Rs 7.1 crore.
