04:47 UTC
Flight 9N-ANC departs from Kathmandu

5:05 UTC
Last position data from the aircraft gathered by Flightradar24 receivers

5:12 UTC
The last signal received from the aircraft at an altitude of 2,875 ft. Pokhara Airport elevation is approximately 2,700 ft above mean sea level (AMSL)

RISKY TERRAIN
The diversity of weather patterns, together with mountainous topography, are the main challenges in aircraft operations in Nepal, due to which the number of accidents related to helicopters and small aircraft having 19 seats or less is comparatively higher

FLIGHT DATA
Throughout the flight, the transponder on 9N-ANC sent wrong altitude and speed data as shown in the graphics by Flightradar24.com, which shows real-time aircraft flight tracking information

The Fatal Fall

THE AIRCRAFT
The 15-year-old ATR 72-500 aircraft was delivered to Kingfisher Airlines in 2007. Six years later, it was bought by Thailand's Nok Air. Then in 2019, it was bought by Nepal's Yeti Airlines. It was equipped with an old transponder that sent unreliable data

CRASH RECORD
According to the ASN safety database, ATR 72 aircraft have been involved in 66 aviation accidents and incidents, including 40 hull losses, resulting in 470 fatalities

DEADLY CRASHES IN NEPAL

SEPT. 1992
On September 28, 1992, a Pakistan International Airlines plane with 167 people on board crashed near Kathmandu's Tribhuvan International Airport. There were no survivors

JULY 2000
Twin Otter plane of Royal Nepal Airlines crashed on its way to Dhangadhi airport, killing 23 persons and three crew members

JUNE, SEPT. 2006
Two crashes took place in 2006. In June, a Yeti aircraft crashed with six on board, killing all; in September, all 24 on board a Shree Air helicopter were killed as it crashed in Eastern Nepal

SEPT. 2011
A small plane carrying tourists crashed into a hill near Kathmandu and killed all 19 on board, among them 10 Indians. Adverse weather conditions were blamed

MAY 2012
A Dornier plane with 21 on board collided with a hilltop while attempting to land. The plane was going to Jomsom airport from Pokhara. In all, 15 were killed