▲ AUTO INDUSTRY: A FIRESIDE CHAT

"Indians think differently from the Japanese, so at Maruti, our main task was to work out strategy. We changed the way of work between management and workers. In Japan they work together. Cooperative partnership between labour and management is a must. We have learnt this from Japan"

"When we started, pricing was very competitive. Over the last few years, because of regulatory changes, cost of cars has been going up. The impact of these changes has been higher in terms of percentage on smaller cars than on bigger ones, because the cost of change is the same"

R.C. BHARGAVA
Chairman, Maruti Suzuki

"In our 25 years of partnership we have delivered over 20 million vehicles. We work on the philosophy of quality, durability and reliability. Ever since 2015, our commitment in Toyota is towards zero carbon manufacturing by 2035"

VIKRAM GULATI
Country Head & Executive Vice President, Corporate Affairs & Governance, Toyota Kirloskar Motor

"The government must have technology-agnostic policies. If a diesel engine is clean at the tail pipe, it will have tax benefits. The word 'hybrid' has been misused. Transition doesn't have to be direct. It can be through whatever technology the company is comfortable with"
