

> “I can’t help but respond to the zeitgeist of the country. I think we all would be living under a rock if we don’t”
>
> —PAYAL KAPADIA

All She Imagines as Light

ON HER PROCESS

I feel my imagination is limited. I get a lot from talking to people, their mannerisms, gestures, how they might be in their private life...and knowing more about lived lives

ON HER FILM

For All We Imagine As Light, we spoke to 200 people over two years, asking about a migrant’s experience of being in Mumbai for the first time

ON HER MUM NALINI

She had an eye to curate what I was looking at.... She was really encouraging of independent thought since a very young age

ON HER DAD’S KNOWLEDGE OF MUMBAI

He knew the streets very well. Every time, it’d be an adventure. On Sunday, we’d go to Bhuleshwar and eat dhokla and jalebi. He was also a very good storyteller

ON FTII, PUNE

I owe FTII everything. There was a romanticism to the place. I remember thinking this seems like a place where they are really trying things