Q+A

Queen of Sass

Art curator, philanthropist and social media sensation Shalini Passi is enjoying her newfound fame after appearing in Netflix's Fabulous Lives vs Bollywood Wives

Q. Your sartorial style has been branded 'over the top'...
Well, I am a maximalist who enjoys mixing colours, textures, prints and materials together. That's who I am, and I am proud of my personality. People may find it over the top because they don't understand there's many layers to fashion, but the viewers absolutely loved it!

Q. The Mumbai vs Delhi debate never seems to end. Do you think your 'comfortable in your skin' attitude tipped the scales in Delhi's favour?
I believe both cities are different yet alike in many ways. I think it's more about parties hosted in both cities...people have taken it so seriously. But I am glad Delhi is getting noticed.

Q. Everyone's saying you're the best thing in Fabulous Lives vs Bollywood Wives...
We've all worked hard to make Season 3 of the show a success. This edition wouldn't have existed if the Bollywood wives hadn't set the pace earlier. But I am glad the audience enjoyed getting to know me and, most importantly, understood what I am.

Q. How do you react to memes about yourself?
I have received so much love already and it continues to pour in. People have loved my punchy one-liners...dentists are using it, so are skincare brands and specialists. I am being called everything from a 'national sensation' to an 'icon' now. All I can say is I am grateful for so much love.
