WORLD COMES TO INDIA

CONCERT SEASON IS HERE, AND INDIAN MUSIC LOVERS ARE IN FOR A TREAT, WITH MUSIC FESTIVALS FEATURING A HOST OF INTERNATIONAL ACTS

MULTI-GENRE

▲ Cherry Blossom
Shillong Nov. 15-16

The most prominent of the festivals held in the Northeast will be banking on nostalgia to draw in crowds across generations with headlining sets by 2000s Senegalese-American R&B singer Akon and 1970s German disco group Boney M., whose only original member is vocalist Liz Mitchell. The line-up comprises an electric mix of electronic music, K-Pop and Bollywood acts.

▼ Lollapalooza India
Mumbai Mar. 8-9, 2025

American rock band Green Day and Canadian pop singer Shawn Mendes will headline the third edition of the Indian franchise of the American festival, which has been postponed from its January slot as promoter BookMyShow Live is staging Coldplay's tour that month. Also on the bill are a dozen other international acts such as US rapper Big Boi, one-half of the iconic hip-hop duo Outkast.

▶ Sunburn
Goa Dec. 28-30

The three nights of the country's longest-running electronic music festival, which launched in 2007, will be closed by the US's dubstep pioneer Skrillex, who hasn't played in India since 2015; Sweden's progressive house music specialist Alesso; and South Korea's Peggy Gou, who scored a worldwide smash in 2023 with '(It Goes Like) Nanana' and is among the few female acts to top a bill this season.

ELECTRONIC MUSIC

▲ DGTL
Mumbai Nov. 8-9
Bengaluru Nov. 9-10

The first India shows since 2013 by British drum and bass duo Chase & Status—who recently celebrated their first UK No.1 hit with "Backbone"—will be among the highlights of the Indian leg of Amsterdam-headquartered global electronic music festival DGTL (pronounced "digital), which will feature a number of techno stars from across the world, including Sama' Abdulhadi. dgtl.nl

▶ Magnetic Fields
Alsisar, Rajasthan Dec. 6-8

British producer Midland will play a five-hour set to close the milestone 10th edition of MagFields where, apart from solo gigs by electronic and live music talent, there will be showcases by the labels Hyperdub and Rhythm Section from London and Social Isolation from Kolkata.

▶ Echoes of Earth Bengaluru, Dec. 7-8

UK group Mount Kimbie will stage their debut show in India at the seventh edition of this festival where environmental sustainability is as much of a focus as the electric range of music acts. That list includes Canadian "improvisational" electronic music trio Cobblestone Jazz whose Mathew Johnson will also play a solo set.
