Slow Travel is the Mantra

For actor Alaya F, travel is all about unwinding—and checking out the best restaurants

WHAT ARE YOUR TRAVEL ESSENTIALS?

I am an over-packer. Whether I am going on a three-day or a month-long trip, my bag is pretty much the same. I carry a tripod with me, so I can shoot content. I always carry a small pocket light that I can stick onto my phone.

WHAT'S YOUR MOST MEMORABLE TRIP?

During one summer vacation, my mother [Pooja Bedi] decided we were going to go on a big Europe trip with my brother and my mother's best friend and her two kids. Nothing has ever managed to match up to that trip. There is just some carefree-ness and lovely childhood memories attached to it.

WHAT DO YOU ENJOY THE MOST WHEN YOU TRAVEL?

Food! I like going to as many restaurants as possible, because on holidays you are guilt free. I am not the sightseeing sort; so packing a trip with monuments and museums is not my vibe. My idea is to take it really slow.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL FOR SHOOTS, ARE YOU ABLE TO MIX PLEASURE WITH WORK?

Sigh...I am one of those people who find it hard to find time for fun while working. Despite travelling so much for shoots—I have been to London for almost all my films, for instance—I only end up exploring and enjoying when I have time off during the shoot.

YOUR FAVOURITE HOLIDAY DESTINATIONS?

I love going to Kerala. There are always new aspects to explore, be it a spa, a boat trip or just a stroll in Kochi. Goa is always reliable. After Bade Miyan Chote Miyan releases, I plan to go to Bali, where a good time is guaranteed. And Spain and Greece are on my wishlist.
