

MADHAV MATHUR

Dashrath Mahal

Significance

This historical site, believed to be the palace of King Dashrath, father of Lord Rama, is steeped in mythological significance. It represents the royal lineage and valorous narratives of the Ramayana, offering a glimpse into the epic's grandeur and Ayodhya's royal past.

Principal Deity

Within Dashrath Mahal, a shrine venerates Lord Rama, Lakshman and Sita. These deities, central to the epic Ramayana, symbolise dharma, devotion and moral integrity. Their presence in this historic setting underscores the blend of Ayodhya's divine and royal heritage.
