taken more aggressive steps.

Closer to home, India's ties with the Maldives also nosedived recently, as pro-China Mohammad Muizzu became president on an 'India out' plank in November. In early January, after PM Modi posted videos and images promoting the tourism industry in Lakshadweep, three deputy ministers in the Maldives' ministry of youth Affairs—Maryam Shiuna, Malsha Shareef and Mahzoom Majid—made disparaging remarks about India and Modi. They were suspended, but the ensuing furore on social media resulted in a 'boycott Maldives' campaign. The Indian Chamber of Commerce also issued an "appeal to boycott Maldives". Since the Maldives relies heavily on tourism and Indians comprise 11 per cent of all tourists
