Q. How has communal harmony fared under the NDA-led Union government?

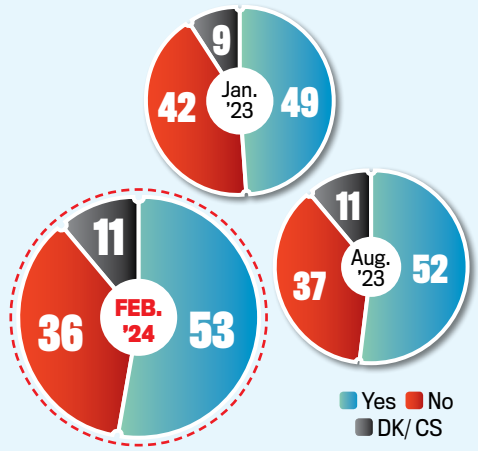

Q. If you think communal harmony in the country has deteriorated, who is responsible for it?

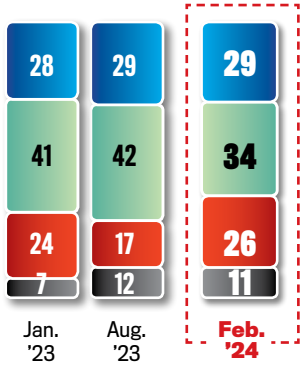

Q. Do you think the central and state governments should give more 'freebies'?

Amid a spate of pre-poll guarantees by all parties, the support for freebie culture is on the rise

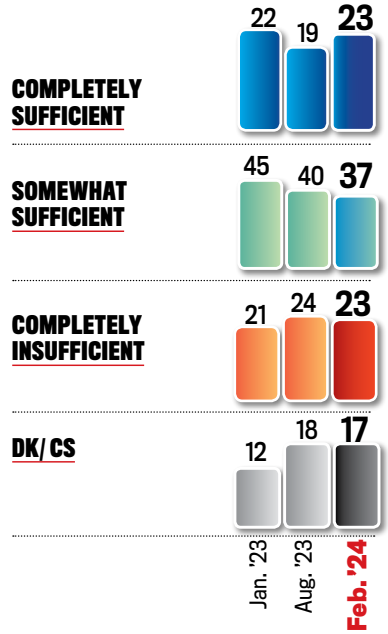

All figures in % and rounded off

Q. Do you support inter-religion marriages?

Q. Do you think our efforts to protect the environment are enough?

ly up from 28.2 per cent to 29.2 per cent over the past year, while only 34.4 per cent feel the religious identity should be known beforehand, down from 41.1 per cent. But 25.5 per cent of the respondents still oppose it, up from 23.8 per cent.

From the protection of choices to the protection of the environment, winds of change have begun to blow here too. Are we doing enough to protect the environment? Well, 23.1 per cent feel the efforts being made are completely insufficient and nearly an equal number—22.5 per cent—say they are completely sufficient, though 37.1 per cent feel the efforts are somewhat sufficient. Even the International Energy Agency has cautioned that India is expected to rely on coal to power its economic growth, despite its commitment to accelerate the deployment of renewables and other low-emission technologies. It's time for a rethink. ■
