

lowest unemployment state

The justice schemes of the Bhupesh Baghel government created so many new employment opportunities in just four years that the unemployment rate in Chhattisgarh remained continuously under control. Even in the Corona-era, when there was a recession in other states of the country, Chhattisgarh's economy remained dynamic and employment opportunities continued to be created. The government has set a target of creating 15 lakh new employment opportunities in five years by starting the employment mission in the state; It was a great achievement of Chhattisgarh that the unemployment rate in the state remained the lowest in the country for one consecutive year.

Increased purchasing power, increased quality of life

Justice schemes brought to life have created a large number of new consumers with good purchasing power for the market. Due to these consumers, there is continuous brightness in the market from villages to cities. Even during the Corona-period, the trade-industry of the state made good development. Growth continued in all sectors including the automobile sector. In these four years, agricultural equipment including tractors, threshers, reapers have been sold in rural areas. Apart from this, the villagers have also bought motorcycles and vehicles of common need in large numbers. According to the latest data, there has been a growth of 15.22 percent in the registration of all types of vehicles in January 2023 as compared to January 2022. Similarly, year-on-year GST collection has also increased in the state. A growth of 35.27 percent was registered in the GST collection in the year 2021-22. Similar growth happened in the sale and purchase of properties. If only the data of purchase and sale of small plots is seen, then from January 01, 2019 to December 31, 2022, a total of 4 lakh 07 thousand 848 documents of small plots had been registered. This means that there has been an increase in activity in the lower middle class in the matter of buying and selling of properties. After the ban on sale and purchase of small plots was lifted by the Bhupesh Baghel government, the dream of a large number of people in the lower-middle class has come true.

Rapid Growth in primary sector

In the year 2021-22, per capita income of Rs 01 lakh 18 thousand 401 was recorded in the state, whereas in the year 2017-18 the per capita income was only 89 thousand 690. In the intervening years, the graph of per capita income kept on rising continuously. It is obvious that economic irrigation of rural areas has brought greenery in urban areas. It is worth noting that the contribution of the primary sector to GSDP depends on the deprived communities that are strengthened by the NYAY schemes. Activities like agriculture and forestry, fisheries are included in this primary sector. In this sector, 44 percent of the total area of the state is covered by forests, rich fertile land, hardworking farmers and villagers, abundant resources including excellent reservoirs and rivers have always been available, but never before have these resources been used so well. The primary sector was left almost neglected. The boost that came in the primary sector from the justice schemes also strengthened the secondary sector, it has got support in the responsibilities of employment and economic development. If seen in this way, the NYAY schemes have brought miraculous changes in the economy of Chhattisgarh. Economic empowerment has also resulted in social empowerment of the underprivileged communities in the state, who are now living with more confidence and self-respect. Not only has the balance of development been established between urban and rural areas, but the mutuality and cooperation between the two areas has also strengthened. It can be said with certainty that Nava Chhattisgarh has taken shape.
