

BHAKTI PATH

A 742-metre-long road from Shringar Ghat to Hanumangarhi and main temple.

BUDGET
₹68 CRORE

DHARAM PATH

Planned and added later, this four-lane road connects Lata Mangeshkar Chowk to the Lucknow-Gorakhpur highway (NH27). To be lined with 40 'Surya Stambhs'—dark grey pillars carved with 'Sri Ram' and features showcasing Ayodhya's history and cultural heritage, topped off with sun-shaped lights.

BUDGET
₹65 CRORE

JANMABHOOMI PATH

Two-lane road runs along 0.56 km between main temple and Sugreev Qila, where a huge gate has been installed. Walls on either side are being carved with murals.

BUDGET
₹41.02 CRORE

monitoring 183 projects, worth Rs 30,540 crore, under 37 state and central agencies—roads, rail, beautification works, parking, ghat restoration. By the time the basic plan is consummated, over Rs 50,000 crore will have flowed into the town's infrastructure. Revving up in 2017 under the incoming Yogi Adityanath administration, first the municipal boards of Faizabad and Ayodhya were merged to create a new Ayodhya Nagar Nigam, then the district itself was renamed in 2018. History was put fully on steroids when a master plan was rolled out in 2019, after the Supreme Court verdict. Team Yogi pulled out all the stops, especially after district magistrate Nitish Kumar took over in October 2021, raising and doing pran pratishthan on a whole new townscape after the devastation of the Covid second wave. A lot of native medieval townscape descended the ghats and flowed on, but Ayodhya in its new avatar should meet some contemporary needs. Like jobs. Clicking a selfie with his wife near Lata Mangeshkar Chowk, Amit Gupta is one of those pulled in by that optimism. He has moved to Ayodhya from Basti, and is searching for a job in the hospitality sector; his wife is running a tiffin service. Gayatri Devi, who sells bangles and toys near Hanumangarhi temple,