KNOW MORE

We create well-formed minds.
Not just well-informed minds.

As a professional, a well-informed mind is necessary to you but it's a well-formed mind that differentiates you.

At Amrita, this is what you get equipped with- a mind that's capable of original and critical thinking.

This is how you become an active learner, not just a passive recipient of information. This is how you become capable of synthesizing new facts and new ideas in out-of-classroom environments.

This is how you become skilled in providing creative solutions to any problem in any field you choose.

Most importantly, this is how you find your place in the world, how you become noticed by employers, and how you become consistently valuable to them.
