

significance in Manipur. Decorated with ten highly stylized motifs, including buffalo horn, fish, sun, seat, horse, elephant, spear, moon, star, and peacock, this shawl is worn by the Nagas of Manipur as a symbol of honour. Each motif is meticulously embroidered with needlework, making Shaphee Lanphee a piece of art that reflects pride, respect, and cultural heritage.

7. Khasi Mandarin
(Meghalaya)

The Khasi Mandarin from Meghalaya stands out for its globose to oblate shape, smooth surface, orange-yellow to bright orange colour, and tight, smooth skin. Known for its juicy flesh and sweet, aromatic flavour, Khasi Mandarin is not easily peelable but offers a rich citrus experience. Rich in Vitamin C, the fruit grows well in the calcareous rock and acidic soils of the north-eastern region, making it a favourite for fresh consumption.

8. Mizo Ginger
(Mizoram):

Ginger is a crucial cash crop in Mizoram, known locally as Sawhthing. With higher pungency, gingerol, and volatile oil compared to other varieties, Mizo Ginger is famous for its quality. Grown in sub-tropical hill zones with acidic soil, Mizo ginger showcases the eco-friendly and traditional cultivation practices followed by farmers in Mizoram. It has become a significant contributor to the region's agricultural landscape.

9. Naga Mircha
(Nagaland)

Naga Mircha, extensively cultivated in Nagaland, is one of the hottest chillies on earth. Known for changing colour from green to red at maturity, it thrives in the unique soil and climatic conditions of the region. Attempts to replicate this environment elsewhere have not been as successful, highlighting the inherent uniqueness of Naga Mircha. This fiery chilli is an integral part of local cuisine and adds a distinctive spice to various dishes.

10. Bomkai Saree & Fabrics
(Odisha)

Bomkai Saree & Fabrics, originating from the village of Bomkai in Ganjam district, Odisha, showcases the intricate weaving skills of the region. Crafted with fine cotton yarns, mulberry silk, tussar silk, and zari, these fabrics are woven on fly shuttle pit looms and frame looms. The three-shuttle technique creates a solid border effect, and the fabrics often feature extra warp and extra weft designs, making them a symbol of Odisha's traditional craftsmanship.

11. Sikkim Large Cardamom
(Sikkim)

Sikkim Large Cardamom is a crucial commercial crop in Sikkim, known for its pleasant aromatic odour, golden colour, and spice value. With a superior quality attributed to native environmental conditions and traditional curing methods, Sikkim Large Cardamom stands out among cardamom varieties. Its unique properties make it a preferred choice for flavouring vegetables and various food preparations.

12. Tripura Queen Pineapple
(Tripura)

The Tripura Queen Pineapple stands out for its spiny, orange-yellow colour, pleasant aroma, and flavour. Oval in shape, this variety of pineapple is characterized by its distinct aroma, delicious taste, and comparatively lower fibre content. Grown through organic cultivation practices, the Tripura Queen Pineapple season ranges from June to December, with July-August being the peak months. Its unique qualities set it apart not just from other varieties grown elsewhere in India but also from the same variety in adjacent states of North East.

13. Darjeeling Tea
(West Bengal)

Darjeeling Tea, cultivated in the hills of West Bengal, is a globally sought-after beverage due to its rare and rich flavour. The unique combination of climate, soil conditions, altitude, and meticulous processing in certain tea gardens in Darjeeling contributes to its incomparable quality. With a history dating back to the early 1800s, Darjeeling Tea has become synonymous with excellence, with each bush yielding a limited amount of high-quality tea.

14. Malda Fazli Mango
(West Bengal)

The Malda Fazli Mango, originating from the Malda district of West Bengal, is a highly prized mango variety known for its sweet flavour, juicy flesh, and firm, fibreless texture. With medium-sized trees, dark green glossy leaves, and small yellowish-white flowers, the Malda Fazli Mango tree produces a bountiful harvest of large, delicious mangoes. Whether eaten fresh or used in various culinary delights, this mango variety is a favourite among mango enthusiasts.

15. Banglar Rasogolla
(West Bengal)

Banglar Rasogolla, produced by over a lakh confectioners in West Bengal (excluding Darjeeling district), is a syrupy dessert made from pure chhana dumplings dipped in light sugar syrup. With a soft, smooth texture and better cohesiveness, Banglar Rasogolla has gained worldwide fame for its organoleptic, physical, and physicochemical characteristics. With no extraneous colouring added, this sweet treat is a testament to the culinary expertise of the region.

Evident from the extensive list of GI products, India is like a colorful tapestry, showcasing a rich blend of diverse

