Trailblazing Educationist With a Heart

Dr. Anusha Ravi
CEO, Park Institutions

A widely-recognised business leader, an acclaimed technological expert, educationist, philanthropist and TEDx curator & speaker, Dr. Anusha Ravi, CEO of the Park Institutions, has revolutionised the educational arena in Tamil Nadu.

A meritorious engineering graduate, Anusha has the rare distinction of being the sole woman on the prestigious Airbus team that introduced internet in airplanes. This go-getter attitude is what enabled Anusha in helming forward the educational excellence of Park Institutions, started by her parents 53 years ago. "Following my return from the US in 2008,I started helping my parents in running the college. Although education wasn't my first choice given my professional background, I soon realised the value in working with the youth transforming lives. The turning point came when a humble auto driver's son got selected for a premium company in Mumbai, in a campus placement. It was not only gratifying but an attestation that as an educationist, one can truly change lives," observes Anusha. Her pride in the students of Park Institutions is palpable when Anusha shares how six of the members on the recent Chandrayaan mission are alumni of the Park college. "And I'm a firm believer that we must always be prepared for the future and constantly travel the globe to bring in innovation in technology to our Institutions so that our students become the changemakers of society backed by adequate skill sets. We will shortly be introducing Web 3 technology and take our education online, thus making us one of the frontrunners in this realm which I consider my biggest achievement of 2023," smiles Anusha.

A firm believer that privilege comes with responsibility and that humanity and education must be tied together, this lady of mettle, has also ensured that her students understand and practice philanthropy. She runs a company called DOARam that connects NGOs and corporates to help the needy. Anusha Ravi has planted 1,00,000 saplings under the Green Kalam Project and was awarded by Dr APJ Abdul Kalam. Park Institutions also provide 14 kinds of scholarships to underprivileged students which is highest among Institutions, Anusha states. Anusha also says she learnt very early in life that limitations are always in one's mind. "Women must always speak up. Today, if two lakh happy alumni have passed out of college, or I've delivered five TEDx talks, organised leadership summits in Coimbatore in association with the Melinda Gates foundation, improved the standard of living of over 10,000 women through community polytechnic programmes or opted to create change through politics, it's only because I never let gender come in the way of achievements. I believe that as a woman of privilege, I must help other women also improve their own life and stand as equals in society," sums up Anusha.
