

GEN. MANOJ PANDE
Chief of Army Staff

ADM. SUNIL LANBA (RETD)
Former Chief of Naval Staff

NIRUPAMA RAO
Former Foreign Secretary

RUDRA CHAUDHURI
Director, Carnegie India

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- India must leverage its economic rise in the Indo-Pacific as it's a theatre of opportunity
- It must work closely with the Indo-Pacific nations that are part of the Global South
- Quad working groups are an important element in strengthening rules-based order in the Indo-Pacific
- The situation on the LAC is "stable but sensitive", with India keeping a close watch

INDIA IS SPEEDILY ADOPTING THE FUSION OF NICHE TECHNOLOGIES LIKE AI, QUANTUM, INTERNET OF THINGS, MACHINE LEARNING AND TYING UP WITH AND HAND-HOLDING INDIGENOUS START-UPS TO DEVELOP THEM

GEN. MANOJ PANDE, Chief of Army Staff

Construction of naval power can't be at the cost of the army or air force. The country needs a greater share of the GDP in defence

BUILD UP THE NAVY IF YOU WANT TO BE COUNTED AS A REGIONAL POWER. THAT IS THE WAY TO GO AHEAD

ADM SUNIL LANBA (RETD)
Former Chief of Naval staff

The contours of the relationships that we build in the Indo-Pacific are being determined in many ways by the contradictions and confrontations we have with China today

NIRUPAMA RAO
Former Foreign Secretary