

INDIA TODAY PHOTO

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Akshay Kumar has had enough of Hollywood films where United States of America gets to be the world saviour, whether it is from a terrorist attack or an alien invasion. About time that Bharat takes up that coveted role, he says. "We want to show that if something happens, India will save," he said to much applause. The National Award-winning actor reached out to the Government of India to encourage filmmakers to tell tales of valour of the air force and the army

- After shooting in Jordan, Abu Dhabi, Scotland and India for their upcoming film, the one thing that is certain is that Kumar and Shroff are in awe of each other's professionalism, discipline and physical prowess. Kumar waxed eloquent of how Shroff diligently warms up before performing stunts, while Shroff returned the praise by calling him the "original action hero" of the industry and India's very own Tom Cruise

I sleep in the fridge at night

AKSHAY on the secret of looking fit and fab at the age of 56

It's fair to say that India is now a superpower and is amongst at least the top two or three nations. I'm really proud to be an Indian and proud to be representing our country and proud of doing films like this where we try and glorify our nation in whatever way we can

TIGER ON BRAND BHARAT

before they headed for shoot. Separated by 22 years, the actors spoke of performing most stunts themselves and kept the use of visual effects to a bare minimum, to create a thrilling experience. One of the session highlights was when both fielded questions from four school children, offering them advice on a healthy lifestyle and even on how to overcome arachnophobia —the fear of spiders! ■

AGE IS JUST A NUMBER WHEN IT COMES TO HIM... I THINK THE MOST SPECIAL PART ABOUT THIS FILM WAS JUST PERHAPS SPENDING TIME WITH HIM

TIGER ON AKSHAY