

MAHINDRA THAR EARTH

Mahindra has launched the Thar Earth edition at a starting price of Rs 15.40 lakh (ex-showroom) with petrol and diesel options (manual and automatic transmission choices in the top-spec LX Hard Top 4x4 variant). The Thar Earth comes in a satin matte 'Desert Fury' finish with dune-inspired decals on the doors and rear fenders with silver alloys and matte black badges. The interior has a black and beige theme with beige leatherette seats, featuring dune designs on the headrests. The cabin is further enhanced with 'Desert Fury' inserts on the AC vents, steering wheel, centre console accent and the Thar branding on doors. Each Thar Earth edition will come with a unique numbered decorative VIN plate starting with serial No. 1.

BYD SEAL

Chinese automaker BYD has launched the Seal electric sedan in India. The luxury EV has three variants on offer—Dynamic with a 61.44kWh battery and a 204 bhp e-motor, Premium with a 312 bhp e-motor and a 82.56kWh battery, and the top-spec Performance with two motors totaling 530 bhp (range is 510-650 km). The Seal Performance does 0-100 kmph in just 3.8 seconds. The sedan uses Cell-to-Body tech, which means the batteries are part of the body itself. The premium cabin has two large displays, a clutter free design, and comes with a big feature list including ADAS (Advanced driver assistance system).

MERCEDES BENZ GLA

The 2024 Mercedes-Benz GLA range starts with the GLA 200 petrol variant and goes up to the range-topping diesel GLA 220d 4MATIC AMG Line. Redesigned headlamps, new LED daytime running lamps, revised bumper and tail-lamps with new LED elements are part of the facelift. Interiors see changes in the form of a new AMG-spec steering wheel on the AMG Line with touch-based controls. The passenger side dash gets a carbon fibre-like insert while the centre console sees new switchgear and more storage.
