THE ULTIMATE IN HOSPITALITY

Hotel management institutes are staying abreast of the latest trends, offering new courses in a variety of allied disciplines

BY SHELLY ANAND

IHM Pusa's distinction comes not just from its illustrious history. The institute was started in 1962 by the Government of India with inputs from international organisations such as the Food and Agricultural Organisation and experts from no less than the Royal Army Catering Corps, UK. Not only has IHM Pusa stayed true to that pedigree but has also over the years come to be known for the diversity among its students and faculty and its accomplished alumni such as celebrity chef Manjeet S. Gill or Sanjeev Kapoor. Practice is what makes the IHM student perfect, as much as the notes and lectures in the classrooms. No wonder the institute has a sterling record in placements. Students in the 2024 batch have hired for multiple roles across the industry and companies such as Zomato, Sodexo, Easy Diner, Walsons and Atica Global. ■

GURUSPEAK

"The central location of the institute in New Delhi brings a lot of co-curricular learning opportunities to students by default. Government-sponsored programmes such as the Bharat Parv, the Paryatan Parv, state banquets and global events such as the G-20 summit give them exposure and confidence"

KAMAL KANT PANT
Principal, IHM Pusa

WHAT SETS IT APART

- 96.6% of the Class of 2024 in IHM Pusa were placed
- Average annual salary (domestic) offered to students: Rs 5 lakh per annum
- Ranked No. 1 in the number of students involved in research and consultancy work
- State-of-the-art kitchens and labs that are constantly innovating to produce culinary delights that can serve large gatherings
- The one-to-one online classes and virtual food walks through cities like Lucknow, Delhi
- To leverage the experience of its distinguished alumni, the institute started 'Pusa Talks' that helps students learn from senior mentors