BACHELOR OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (BBA)

Colleges are introducing specialised BBA programmes that provide students skills in their chosen areas such as marketing, finance, human resources, operations, entrepreneurship and international business

Industry 4.0 is a reality, and colleges are introducing courses/ modules on emerging technologies like AI, machine learning, Internet of Things, robotics and digital marketing

Classroom coaching alone can't help students understand real-life situations companies face. Live projects, field work and industry internships are now compulsory components

The world is a global village and BBM graduates work with multicultural teams in MNCs. Foreign language courses, international student exchanges, international internships provide students with global exposure

Managers require cognitive skills, emotional intelligence, creativity and physical fitness. Psychometric assessments, mindfulness techniques and sports help students develop strength to handle the complexities of the business world

FIVE INNOVATIVE JOBS TO PICK UP WITH A BBA DEGREE

By Dr Vaidyanathan Jayaraman, Dean, Undergraduate programmes, SP Jain School of Global Management, Mumbai

Digital marketing manager: A job that looks at how to design and implement online marketing campaigns using social media, search engines and emails

Business analyst: Focuses on AI and data analytics, using big data to understand performance

Supply chain manager: Ensures efficient working of the firm's supply chain. The person oversees every stage of production, from purchasing raw materials to delivering the end products

Sustainability manager: Advises firms on how to be environmentally responsible, including energy efficiency, waste reduction, recycling and corporate social responsibility initiatives

E-commerce strategist: This job is about developing and executing strategies for enhancing online presence and channel performance of retail businesses

WHAT AFTER BBA: MBA OR A JOB?

The choice to pursue an MBA or take up a job after a BBA depends on individual career goals and financial situations. Entering the job market after completing BBA, says Dr Jayaraman, lets one start earning right away, which is crucial for financial independence or paying off student loans. An MBA is ideal for those wanting to advance knowledge base and entrepreneurial skills. "Working for a few years can help one be clear about her career goals, which can help her decide to pursue an MBA later," says Dr Jayaraman.
