WHAT TO DO AFTER BCA: MCA OR JOB?

Equipping students with practical knowledge in areas like programming, computer architecture and web/mobile applications, the BCA degree helps you build a career in IT services. Job roles include cloud technologies or IT infrastructure support, with an annual salary of Rs 3-5 lakh

Most graduates tend to opt for regular placements, says Dr Ashok Immanuel V., head of the Department of Computer Science at Christ. Some take up freelancing jobs before getting into start-ups, while others go for higher education

For those pursuing MCA, there are some specialised branches such as Artificial Intelligence/ Machine Learning. They land similar roles as graduates, but with a higher pay package
