FIVE INNOVATIVE JOBS ONE CAN PICK UP WITH A FASHION DESIGN DEGREE

By Sanjay Gupta,
Vice-chancellor, World University of Design, Sonipat

Functional fashion designer: Merges fashion designing with an understanding of the needs of the wearer to create garments that are functional, use smart fabrics, wearable technology, interactive designs and digital interfaces

Sustainable fashion designer: This requires the designer to focus on creating fashion that is eco-friendly by adopting and advising brands on sustainable practices—sourcing organic materials to implementing ethical production methods and reducing carbon footprints, developing zero-waste fashion lines or creating biodegradable textiles

Digital fashion designer: They create 3D models of garments that exist in the digital realm for virtual events, online gaming characters or social media avatars

Fashion data analysts: Combining fashion design expertise with understanding of artificial intelligence (AI) and data science, fashion data analysts help brands stay ahead of the competition by using AI to predict trends, optimise supply chains and understand consumer behaviour

Circular fashion designer: Designing with focus on creating clothes that can be easily recycled, upcycled, or biodegraded.
