

HARDIK CHHABRA

ment needs to do two things—rationalise income tax slabs and lower tax rates, or raise existing slabs for tax rates, so that people are left with more money in hand; or lower GST rates, so that indirect taxes on key commodities come down

REIN IN INFLATION Food inflation is hurting the masses, as ground reports this election revealed. One way to ease it is to reduce fuel prices, a possibility with polls due in states like Maharashtra

RATIONALISING TAX STRUCTURE Multiple tax slabs, compliance, delayed refunds and technical glitches have been the bane of GST; main rates should be brought down from four to two. There are also calls for exemption in capital gains tax and higher exemptions for those in the old I-T regime

UNDERTAKING KEY REFORMS It may be too much to expect big-ticket land and labour reforms. But the Insolvency & Bankruptcy Code can do with amendment for faster resolutions. As also the Insurance Act and the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India. The draft Digital Competition Bill, in the works in the corporate affairs ministry, could also do with some movement

EXPERTSPEAK

MADAN SABNAVIS
Chief Economist, Bank of Baroda

"Besides fiscal consolidation, the FM needs to boost consumption, which can be done by lowering taxes or raising tax slabs, or streamlining GST"