Coimbatore's landscape is transforming as it re-emerges as a major hub of industry, IT services and Real Estate Development. With immense growth potential across sectors, there are opportunities galore in Tamil Nadu's second biggest city.

Historically, the city has always been a centre of industry and innovation. It was a major textile hub in the early 20th century. Post-Independence, Coimbatore saw significant growth owing to industrialisation, which led to rapid development. In a 2014 survey by India Today magazine, Coimbatore was declared India's best emerging city from an investment perspective. This vibrant city is being reimagined once again, with visionaries across sectors tapping into its potential and transforming it into a new powerhouse of commerce and industry.
