

ALAMY

← VEER ZAARA

Original release: 2004

In its limited second run, Yash Chopra's cross-border romance minted enough to help the film cross the Rs 100 crore mark overall. To celebrate its 20th anniversary, Yash Raj Films is re-releasing it internationally on 600 screens

← TUMBBAD

Original release: 2018

The blockbuster of re-releases, the Sohum Shah-produced horror film collected Rs 36.25 crore in its second run compared to Rs 16 crore in its original one. The success has emboldened Shah to make a part II

← KARAN ARJUN

Original release: 1995

The last time Shah Rukh Khan and Salman Khan came together—for Pathaan and Tiger 3 in 2023—it created fireworks at the box office. Expectations will be high from what was their first collaboration

← 25 YEARS OF KAREENA: The actor at an event announcing a festival of her films

Rohini Kapur Alva was 10 and a half when she watched Karan Arjun, the 1995 Shah Rukh-Salman Khan-starring reincarnation drama, the first of the three times she'd see it that year in Minerva cinema in what was then Bombay. "I saw it in a paisa-vasool, seeti-maar environment," she recalls. "A few scenes are still deeply etched in my mind. Like the 'Bhaag Arjun Bhaag' one and the 'Jaati Hoon Main' song in which Kajol dances in the stables in an electric blue backless dress." Three decades later, the now 40-year-old SRK fan eagerly awaits the film's re-release in cinemas on November 22. With no new SRK film releasing this year, Kapur Alva is eager to revisit an "iconic" film. "I will go to enjoy the experience with other SRK fans," she says.

Karan Arjun joins a long list of Hindi films having a second run in cinemas this year. They include SRK's star-crossed romance Veer Zaara, Kuch Kuch Hota Hai and the Sohum Shah-produced period horror Tumbbad, which turned out to be one of the year's biggest surprise hits, making four times the money it did in its original run in 2018. From classics like Satyajit Ray's Mahanagar to Ranbir Kapoor's Rockstar and Wake Up Sid, and soon the Shah Rukh-Aamir starrer