

Commission (KVIC), revealing that its business, which was 31,154 Crore Rupees 9 years ago, has now surpassed One Lakh Thirty Thousand Crore Rupees. This phenomenal progress is attributed to an additional investment of Rs 1 lakh Crores over the last 9 years. These funds have reached the marginalized sections, including the poor, Dalits, backward communities, very backward communities and tribals engaged in the handloom sector in the villages. It has played a pivotal role in lifting them out of poverty and ensuring food security. Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi has made history as the first Prime Minister in independent India, to use the products of Khadi and Village Industries projecting them as catalyst to make rural India self-reliant. Since the inception of his most popular program 'Mann Ki Baat' in 2014, he has consistently urged the public to support and purchase Khadi and Village Industry products, marking a significant departure from previous practices.

On various most talked about global platforms, from the events of G20 Summit 2023 at symbolic places like Bharat Mandapam and Rajghat, the Prime Minister consistently highlighted Khadi. Welcoming G20 representatives, he adorned them with Khadi Angavastram, showcasing its significance. During the launch of the Vishwakarma Yojana at the new Expo Center Yashobhoomi in Dwarka, Delhi, he engaged warmly with artisans at the Khadi stall, offering encouragement. Over the past 9 years, the Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC) has shown revolutionary groundbreaking growth in the production, sales, and employment generation of Khadi and Village Industries products across villages, towns, cities, and border areas of India. The skills of rural artisans are not only gaining respect but also receiving fair price for their craftsmanship.

In this rising era, the production of Khadi-Village Industries rose from Rs 27 Thousand Crore to Rs. 95 Thousand Crore. The sales of Khadi-Village Industries products have jumped from Rs 33 Thousand Crore to Rs. 1 lakh 34,000 Crore. The production of Khadi clothes has seen a substantial increase from Rs 880 crore to a staggering Rs. 2915.85 Crore, with Khadi clothing sales reaching an astounding Rs. 6,000 crore from Rs 1,170 crore. Remarkably, the flagship Khadi showroom in Delhi at Connaught Place achieved a record sales of Rs. 1.5 Crore in one day and Rs 25 crores in a month during Khadi Mahotsav. Moreover, during the India International Trade Fair (IITF) in Delhi, Khadi worth Rs. 15 crore was sold in just 15 days. These achievements proves the immensely growing faith of the people in PM Modi's 'Make in India', 'Vocal for Local' and 'Swadeshi Products' initiatives. Through its diverse schemes, KVIC is empowering traditional artisans and women residing in rural areas.

A significant proportion, nearly 80% of Khadi artisans are women, with every fourth Khadi artisan hailing from socially backward communities. Thus, the Khadi program is playing a vital role in the socio-economic empowerment of rural women and various other sections of the society. Kudos to the efforts of Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi, Khadi products such as muslin, silk sarees, cotton shirts, and kurtas are in great demand not only in domestic markets but also in international ones. The surge in demand for Khadi is attributed to both its growing appeal and the supportive measures implemented by the government, coupled with the dedicated efforts of spinners, weavers, and Khadi workers engaged in these activities.

Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi considers Khadi as a tool of economic self-reliance among spinners and weavers in rural India. In the year 2013-14, Khadi artisans received a remuneration of only Rs.3.00 per hank, which was raised to Rs.4.00 per hank in 2014-15 and has now reached Rs.10.00 per hank. This reflects a substantial 233.33% increase in the wages of Khadi artisans since 2013-14. Starting from 2016, the assistance extended to Khadi artisans is provided through Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT), ensuring that the intended beneficiaries receive the benefits directly. The Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC) in the form of unemployment eradication 'weapon' has also set a new record in employment generation in the country.
